September 25, 2014

Housekeeping Checklist

- During the session, please write your questions in the “Chat” box on the lower left-hand corner of your screen. Please send your questions as they come up during the workshop.
- We will address your questions at the end of the session via the “Chat” box.
- We will try to scroll through the demo screen as slowly and smoothly as possible. However, when the moderator scrolls through the screen, your screens will experience a slight delay.
- You are welcome to register for and join Workshop II, which will be on Tuesday, Sept. 30th from 1:00-2:00 p.m. Central Time.

Goals for Today's Session

- Learn how to access the open CEAL Statistics Database
<http://ceal.lib.ku.edu/CEAL/php/>
- Search for your institutional data through the Web-based interface
- Learn where to find CEAL libraries information
- Find CEAL statistics from 1957 to the present
- Access CEAL individual libraries and total libraries' collection data, including volume holdings, annual additions, serial titles, electronic resources, personnel support, public services, etc.

What is the CEAL Statistics Database?

- A searchable database with annual additions of statistical data collected from East Asian libraries and museum collections.
- Print versions of the CEAL annual statistics have been collected and published annually in the Journal of East Asian Libraries (JEAL) since the late 1980s.
- The online statistics database has been published since 1999 to the present with a parallel hard copy published in every February issue of JEAL, the CEAL official publication.

What is the CEAL Statistics Database? (Cont'd.)

- The pre-1999 statistics data was added in 2007.
- The database now includes the statistics of North American East Asian libraries and museum collections published from 1957 to the present.

Welcome to the CEAL Statistics Database

The Council on East Asian Library (CEAL) Statistics is an annual publication of statistical data of East Asian libraries (including gross, current serials, other materials, electronic resources), staffing, and services in North America. This data is available in table and graph formats.

The CEAL Statistics site has been created and maintained by the CEAL Statistics Committee located at the University of Kansas.

- For new users to this database, please click here for more information.
- Certain data can only be accessed by members, including tables with derived statistical data. Please contact us for information about membership.

Searching the database:

Quick View	Provides a quick view on the statistics of all institutions, containing information about total materials held (including serials).
Table View (Basic)	Search the database with year(s) and libraries, and view all the data and fields available in individual tables.
Table View (Advance)	Search the database with year(s) and libraries, and view the data available in individual tables. Unlike basic view, fields to display can be customized.
Graph View (Basic)	Search the database and view the data available as graphs.
Graph View (Advance)	Search the database and view the data available as graphs. Fields to display can be customized.
PDF	View published data in PDF.
Participating Libraries	Contains the list of CEAL participants along with information of CEAL forms submitted, sorted by year.

Note:

1. Grand Total Materials is calculated with E-Books being counted as volumes.
2. Accumulated statistics are calculated using data from all institutions, as long as they have submitted the corresponding forms.

(*1) For year between 1994 and 1998, "Other Materials" includes microfilm reels, microfilm fiches, microform, computer files and CDs, audiovisual, and materials not classified otherwise. Year before 1994, only microfilm reels, microfilm fiches, microform are included.
