SIXTY-NINTH

Annual Commencement

University of Kansas

Baccalaureate Services

THE MEMORIAL STADIUM

SUNDAY, JUNE 8, 1941

7:30 O'CLOCK

Program

PROCESSIONAL, "Grand Commencement March"

Arranged by William Ward, '40

UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS BAND

RUSSELL L. WILEY, Director

INVOCATION THE REV. THEODORE H. ASZMAN
Minister to the First Presbyterian Church

HYMN Seymour

Softly now the light of day
Fades upon my sight away;
Free from care, from labor free,
Lord, I would commune with Thee.

Thou, whose all-pervading eye
Naught escapes, without, within,
Pardon each infirmity,
Open fault and secret sin.

Soon, for me, the light of day
Shall forever pass away:
Then, from sin and sorrow free,
Take me, Lord, to dwell with Thee.

Thou who, sinless, yet has known
All of man's infirmity:
Then, from Thine eternal throne,
Jesus, look with pitying eye.

SCRIPTURE READING THE REV. NATHAN H. HUFFMAN
Former Minister to Snyder Memorial
United Brethren Church

PRAYER THE REV. CHARLES W. THOMAS
Minister to Students, First Baptist Church

"GLADSOME RADIANCE" Gretchaninoff

UNIVERSITY A CAPPELLA CHOIR

DONALD M. SWARTHOUT, Dean of the School of Fine Arts, Director

BACCALAUREATE SERMON, "Builders, Yesterday and Today" THE REV. FREDERIC CUNNINGHAM LAWRENCE
Rector St. Peter's Episcopal Church,
Cambridge, Mass.

HYMN Duke Street

O God, beneath Thy guiding hand
Our exiled fathers cross'd the sea;
And when they trod the wintry strands,
With pray'r and psalm they worshipp'd Thee.

Thou heard'st, well pleased, the song, the prayer,
Thy blessing came; and still its power
Shall onward, through all ages, bear
The memory of that holy hour.

Laws, freedom, truth, and faith in God
Came with those exiles o'er the waves;
And where their pilgrim feet have trod,
The God they trusted guards their graves.

And here Thy name, O God of love,
Their children's children shall adore,
Till these eternal hills remove,
And spring adorns the earth no more.

BENEDICTION THE REV. JOHN E. BOWERS
Minister to the Trinity Episcopal Church

RECESSIONAL, "Onward Kansas" Jack Laffer, '39
Arranged by WILLIAM WARD, '40

“Colleges, in like manner, have their indispensable office. But they can only highly serve us when they aim not to drill, but to create; when they gather from far every ray of various genius to their hospitable halls, and by the concentrated fires, set the hearts of their youth on flame.”

---Emerson.

75th ANNIVERSARY EXHIBITIONS

Special showings of the University expositions during the 75th anniversary observance will be held according to the schedule below. However, individuals are permitted to inspect the exhibition at all times during the celebration.

FRIDAY, JUNE 6	4 p.m.	Dyche Museum
SATURDAY, JUNE 7	8:30-12 m.	Bailey Chemical Laboratories Robinson Gymnasium Haworth Hall Fowler Shops Power Plants
SUNDAY, JUNE 8	2-5 p.m.	Snow Hall Frank Strong Hall Hoch Auditorium
MONDAY, JUNE 9	9-12 m.	Blake Hall Home Economics Demonstration House Watkins Memorial Hospital Fraser Hall Journalism Building Watson Library Anatomy Building
	2-5 p.m.	Memorial Union Building Spooner-Thayer Museum Dyche Museum Green Hall

ATMOSPHERE OF THE PERIOD

Sixty young women of the University are on hand during the 75th Anniversary Celebration to act as guides and hostesses. They are dressed in gowns of the 1866 period. The campus lamp posts have been fitted with old fashioned gas lamps, and quaint hitching posts adorn the campus drives. Sight-seers have the benefit of plenty of resting places and refreshments. Informed attendants are available to explain the various exhibits and demonstrations.

Many exhibits other than those listed below will be presented to Commencement and Seventy-Fifth Anniversary guests on the University campus. Visitors are urged to inquire of attendants for exhibits of their special interests which they may not find in the following paragraphs.

MILLER, WATKINS, BATTENFELD, CARRUTH AND TEMPLIN HALLS

The five University scholarship dormitories will be open throughout the Commencement and Anniversary activities, and visitors are urged to inspect these halls which provide a unique feature in the field of American education.

FRANK STRONG HALL

Romance Languages—French Office, Room 115

French and Italian books—rare and artistically bound. Colored prints of French scenes. French, Belgian, and Italian coins. Busts of famous French authors.

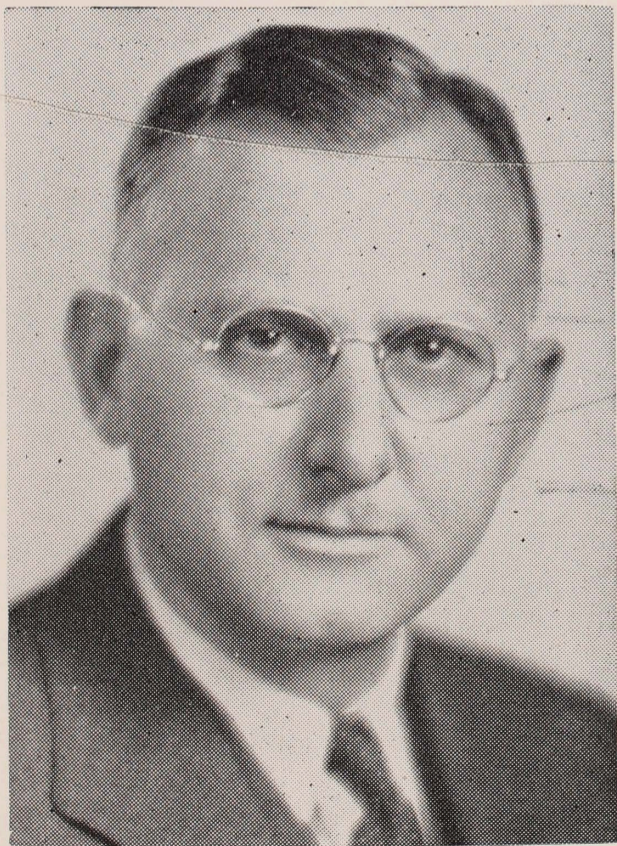

Spanish flags of the 21 American republics. Maps, posters, and South American publications. Informative folders (to be given away). Rare Spanish books. Map of the Coronado expedition. Other articles of interest from Spain, Mexico, and Puerto Rico.

Physiology—Rooms 8, 24

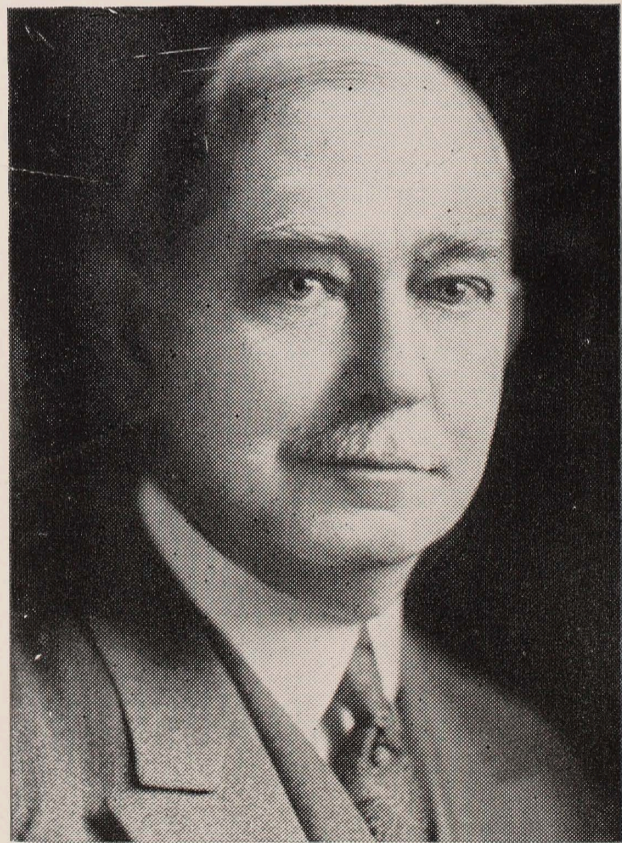

Laboratory apparatus and experiments.

School of Business—Hall, First Floor

Reports and problems prepared by students in the various accounting courses and in the course in business reports; letters written by students in business correspondence; in-

Harold D. Smith

Clarence E. McClung

vestments and marketing reports and other related materials. Publications of members of the School's faculty. Books, pamphlets, magazine articles, many of which are well-known. A chart on business school growth and a brief explanation of the curricula. A large map showing the Kansas high schools from which K.U. graduates have come that may be of interest to alumni.

History—Room 108

Display of historical pictures and maps.

Sociology—Room 208

A chronology of sociology at the University, a map showing the residence of former students majoring in the sociology department, a display of books written by members of the department, and an exhibit of graduate theses and dissertations. A display of early and current textbooks in the field, casts of extinct human races, a map showing cultural regions of the rural United States, and an assortment of diagrams and charts illustrating important facts about population and the structure of human communities. A supply of the 1940 University Newsletter edited by the sociology department will be available to visitors.

Violin—Room 111

Chart in the form of a map, showing the important positions as heads of violin departments and deans of music, that some of our graduates have occupied and now occupy in colleges and universities over the country.

Painting—Rooms 305, 323, 325

The annual student commencement exhibition of the best work not only of majors of the department, but also some work done in the department by students in the School of Engineering and Architecture and the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. The exhibition will include paintings in oil and watercolor, and drawing in charcoal, pencil and pen.

Design—Rooms 308, -10, -14, -16, -18, -20

A comprehensive student exhibition including textile designs, industrial designs, ceramics, sculpture, metal and jewelry, weaving, bookbinding, art education, and other examples of student work. These are exhibited in the halls and the studios of the design department located on the third floor of west Strong Hall.

Demonstrating of the "Symphochrome," a device developed by Prof. T. D. Jones for producing moving abstract forms of colored light. This instrument serves as a source of inspiration in the field of color and design, and, when synchronized with music, provides a new and stimulating esthetic experience.

Commercial Art and Industrial Design. Package design, letterheads, book covers, posters, advertising "layouts," etc.

Political Science—Room 120

Visitors to the exhibits of the department of political science are able to vote on a late model voting machine which has been set up on the basis of the ballots used in the Kansas election of November, 1940. A display of types and forms of past and present ballots used in the United States also is provided. Other displays include maps showing the location and activities of graduates of the University in government service, and also of all graduates in political science. In addition, there are a number of charts of the organization of typical units of government, particularly in Kansas.

Psychology—Rooms 13, 15, 17, 19, 21, 29

Pieces of laboratory apparatus used in elementary laboratory: Vernier chronoscope, measures the quickness of reaction. Mirror tracing, a most interesting experiment in learning. Apparent movement apparatus, demonstrates the basis of the moving picture illusion. Some striking visual illusions of size, direction and perspective. The stereoscope, demonstrates illusions of depth. The color mixer, whereby certain colors are obtained from others. The perimeter which shows that the retina of the normal eye is partly colorblind. Pyramid problem, demonstrates quickness in reasoning.

Research apparatus: Kinohapt, by which is studied how we perceive space and time through skin impressions. Adaptometer, for studying sensitivity of the eye. Audiometer for studying sensitivity of the ear. Plethysmograph, which measure variations of blood supply of the arm during experiences of emotional stress.

Apparatus for studying the laws of memory.

Effect of climate on animal and human behavior: Pictures of rats bred in a hot climate, medium climate, and a cold climate. Actual white rats produced in hot and cold climates in the laboratory. Data showing that cold rats are much smarter than hot rats although they came from the same family originally. Charts showing relationships of culture cycles of history to climate fluctuations. Charts showing relationship of international and civil wars to warm and cold periods. Charts showing where we are now in relation to climate and what we may expect in the future. Will Hitler eventually win? Charts showing relation of dictators to climate. Charts showing relation of democracies to climate.

Testing material: Various kinds of intelligence, personality, aptitude, and vocational interest tests, with and without the use of language. Tests for children and adults.

Books concerning clinical work in psychology. Books written by members of the psychology staff.

BAILEY CHEMICAL LABORATORIES

School of Pharmacy—Room 201

Reproduction of the Woodward & Co. drug store of Lawrence, which was one of the first, if not the first, real drug store in Kansas. Original fixtures from this store have been obtained and numerous items representative of 75 years ago will be included in the exhibit. Among the things of interest are beautiful show globes, hand-decorated ointment jars, brass and iron mortars, one of which is one of the rarest in the world and 425 years old; old balances, tincture bottles, tincture presses, drug containers, and many other interesting drug store articles of the period. A pioneer drug store of Kansas will be reproduced as accurately as possible.

Chemistry—Room 164

Preparation of liquid air and experiments with it. Glass exhibit; glass blowing by Mr. George King. Fifth annual Alpha Chi Sigma exhibit: dyes, medicinals, plastics and general organic chemical reactions, radioactivity, colloids and general experiments in physical and electro-chemistry. Historical displays: early apparatus used in the chemistry department.

Biochemistry—Room 103

Display of biophysical and biochemical apparatus used in modern clinical diagnosis: the Bausch and Lomb quartz spectograph, the Heyrovsky micro-polarograph, photo-electric colorimeters, and apparatus used for qualitative and quantitative micro-analysis of blood and body fluids.

FOWLER SHOPS

Military Science—Classrooms

The military department has all its equipment on display in classrooms used by the department in Fowler Shops.

Mechanical and Industrial Engineering

Machinery, processes, and exercises used in the engineering metal working courses including machine shop work, welding, and foundry. Exercises and products by the O.S.Y. national defense training program.

SPOONER-THAYER MUSEUM

The Thayer Collection of Art. gift of Mrs. W. B. Thayer as a memorial to her husband, is displayed on the three floors of Spooner-Thayer Building.

The exhibits on the main floor include a rare and interesting group of eighteenth century Italian figures; carvings of lacquer, ivory, jade, crystal, and amber; Oriental rugs, bro-cares, and embroideries; pewter, copper, bronze, and silver; pottery, porcelain, and glass from many countries; and several types of furniture. A library of books on art, history, and travel is in the northwest room of this floor. Also in this room is the stamp collection presented by Harriet Greissinger Brown, fa'95. In the southwest room are the Martin Memorial windows; the eighteenth century English porcelain and pottery, given by Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Burnap of Kansas City; eighteenth century furniture; and some manuscripts and old books from the collection of F. B. Dains may be seen in the central room.

In the large case on the north, a most interesting group of articles collected by Mr. Wallace Lee during two years residence in Siam as geologist for the Siamese government is shown. Included are sculptures, books, silver bowls, hand-woven costumes, weapons, etc. A collection of early pressed glass from Mrs. Margaret L. Barber of Williamsburg, Mo., may be seen in the large case against the east window of the ceramics room.

The galleries on the second floor display paintings and prints, musical instruments and furniture. The permanent collection of paintings by American artists occupies the central gallery. In the south gallery is an exhibition of paintings by former and present members of the painting department, including a portrait of the late Chancellor Lindley and one of "The Third Generation." An effort was made to have all former members of the department represented, but a complete representation was impossible. Paintings by Alfred Clark, W. A. Griffith, John R. Frazier, Houghton Smith, and the present members, Albert Bloch, Raymond Eastwood, and Karl Mattern are shown. In the north gallery are Chinese paintings and Japanese prints. Several pieces of sculpture by Bernard Frazier of the design department may be seen in the center gallery.

The ground floor contains the collection of American Indian art, American coverlets, hooked rugs, dolls, and some colonial furniture; also examples of quilt blocks from the Hall collections of quilt patterns, and some Persian, East Indian, and Paisley shawls. There is a special exhibit of shoes from many countries presented some years ago by Anne Wilder, fs'06. Etchings by Dean F. O. Marvin are shown in the northwest gallery, a loan of George March. A collection made by the late Rosemary Ketcham of 200 dolls is shown on this floor, together with a beautiful East Indian enameled jar and tray, an example of gold brocaded Palembang cloth, a rare silk Paisley shawl, and an exquisitely tooled book, all parts of her gift to the University.

WATKINS MEMORIAL HOSPITAL

The hospital is open for inspection. A series of enlarged photographs and charts illustrate the method used in making routine examinations of students with particular emphasis on tuberculosis case-finding.

The School of Medicine has an display an iron lung or respirator, designed by members of the medical school staff to provide an economical apparatus for use with patients suffering from paralysis of the respiratory mechanism.

Dr. Claude F. Dixon of the Mayo Clinic is showing an exhibit on the early recognition of cancer. This display, also shown at the Minnesota State Medical Meeting, is arranged to interest lay people.

JOURNALISM BUILDING

Historical newspapers. Kansas Editors' Hall of Fame. Thirty years development of the University Daily Kansan.

FRASER HALL

Wilcox Museum—Room 208

Museum is open with Greek and Roman antiquities on exhibit. Beside regular material, various things have been especially arranged for the occasion.

Home Economics—Rooms 10, 110, 116

Open house, home management house. (The house will not be open on Saturday morning, June 7.) Displays in rooms 10, 110, and 116, Fraser hall.

English—Room

Books written by students and members of the University staff at various times. Books written by Kansas writers who have had little or no direct association with the University.

School of Education—East Corridor

The School of Education has an exhibit in the east corridor of Fraser Hall. The exhibit consists of health education posters, art education work in modern schools, visual aids, and a collection of old and new textbooks. The purpose of the exhibit is to contrast some aspects of the old schools with those of modern schools.

Bureau of Visual Instruction—Room 15

The Bureau of Visual Instruction of the University Extension Division will display a number of models showing industrial development, development of agricultural tools, miniature homes in various styles of architecture, Indian craft work, and costumed dolls of foreign countries. Metal craft and weaving exhibits will also be included in the display.

SNOW HALL

Botany—Fourth Floor Corridor

Display of Kansas wild flowers mounted and named.

Francis Huntington Snow Insect Collection—Room 317

K.U. has the finest general insect collection in any University in America. It is open to the public June 5-9. Come see the insect collection as well as the insect zoo. Living insects and poisonous Arthropods.

ENGINEERING

Chemical Engineering, Bailey Laboratories

Continuous fractional distillation illustrating the separation of two or more volatile solvents. Vacuum evaporation illustrating methods of recovery of soluble salts. Absorption of water vapor from air by liquids. Drying of granular solids by use of a rotary dryer. Production of perfumes from crude essential oils. Demonstrations of industrial dust explosion hazards.

Petroleum Engineering, Haworth Hall

Small-scale cable tool drilling rig, operated by electric motor. Production of oil by means of gas lift. Full-size oil field pumping unit. Equipment used in testing well cores for oil content, water content, porosity, and permeability. Equipment used for the purpose of testing the properties of drilling muds. Equipment used in testing cements used around oil field casing. Measurement of physical properties of oils. Calibration of pressure gages by means of a dead-weight tester. Equipment for use in connection with bottom-hole pressure and temperature measuring devices. Equipment used in research sponsored by the Spang Manufacturing Company of Butler, Pa. The relation between the motion of the surface equipment and that of the driller's bit are under investigation. (Rear of Marvin hall, radio tower.)

Mechanical Engineering, Marvin Hall

Popcorn machine, plastic press, foundryette, stroboscope display, solar still, beer bottle calliope, jayhawk drawing machine, engineer turning the world. Aeronautical exhibits: two-foot wind tunnel with model, six-inch tunnel with flow pattern demonstration, smoke flow display, adjustable pitch propeller, display of wind tunnel models, Kinner aircraft engine, Pratt and Whitney wasp, Liberty aircraft engine, Wright Hispano aircraft engine, Wright Lawrence aircraft engine, aeronautical instrument display, cutaway engine model, model of Kansas City airport.

Civil Engineering

Models of bridges, drawings of structural details, model railway, railway engineering drawings and diagrams, wind tunnel, surveying equipment, exhibit of soil and its characteristics, soil-cement building blocks, water treatment, sewage purification, industrial hygiene, rural sanitation.

Electrical Engineering

Applied Mechanics

Demonstrations of standard methods of testing structural materials—Testing of Materials Laboratory—room 8, Marvin hall.

Demonstrations of the beauties of polarized light and its practical use in science and engineering—Photoelasticity Laboratory—south end of engineering laboratories building, second floor.

Mining and Metallurgical Engineering

Display of metals and the ores from which they are derived. The metallographic laboratory is open. The mineral dressing laboratory shows operating models of placer mining, concentration of ores on shaking tables, a coal cleaning process, and methods of crushing and sizing ores.

Architecture

Student work in industrial, domestic, and public designs. Models (clay and wood) and renderings (all mediums). Special exhibits: sculpture by architectural students, heliodon (sun machine) demonstration showing effect of sun on architecture, new equipment in department. Model diving towers for a municipal swimming pool.

HAWORTH HALL

Geology—First and Second Floors

The department of geology and the Kansas Geological Survey, assisted by the U.S. Geological Survey, has prepared exhibits demonstrating various features of geology and of the practical application of geology.

A selection of fossil invertebrates is displayed in the Dyche Museum of Natural History. The background is divided into areas denoting the past geologic ages, and representative forms of animal life belonging to each period are illustrated. A special section has been devoted to some specimens found in Kansas.

The permanent and semi-permanent exhibits in Haworth hall are open to the public. These consist (on the second floor) of mural paintings of geologic cross-sections of Kansas and of North America; (on the first floor) in room 102 an extensive collection of minerals, and in room 101 fossil plants, invertebrates, dioramas, maps, and other material illustrative of the various phases of activity of the geological surveys. Among these last are included exhibits pertaining to clay and ceramic products, ground water, oil and gas, building stone, rock wool, sand, volcanic ash, gypsum, salt, lead and zinc, and other mineral resources. In the halls are displays of meteorites, agates, types of rock, and other specimens of geologic interest.

An exhibit of fluorescent minerals will be displayed in Room 5 of Haworth Hall. Fluorescence is the phenomenon whereby on exposure to ultra-violet or "black light" certain minerals glow in certain colors in seeming darkness.

BLAKE HALL

Physics—Room 110

Polaroids—Demonstration of elimination of sun glare from road pavements, lamp glare from pages of print, and headlight glare.

Brownian movement—Agitation of small colloid particles, suspended in air or in a liquid, due to the molecules of the liquid hitting the particles.

Cathode ray oscillograph—Demonstration of wave forms of sounds of the voice and various musical instruments.

Electrostatic machine—Wimshurst electrostatic machine for development of high potentials.

Jacob's (one rung) ladder—Effect of magnetic field and of high temperature of spark upon the climbing action of a spark in the air.

Total internal reflection rods—Delivery of bright beam of light at the far end of a very much bent glass or "lucite" rod when the light is furnished at the near end of the rod.

Floating of a ball in an air jet—Illustration of principles which underlie the curving of baseballs and the changes of pressure in fluid streams which change in velocity from place to place—Water, oil, and gas meters for large pipe lines.

Stroboscopic views of rapidly vibrating bodies—Sharply defined views of tuning forks and other regularly vibrating bodies at such intervals as to make these bodies appear to be moving very slowly or even to be standing still.

Fluorescent minerals and other materials—Fluorescence excited by "light" which itself is perfectly invisible.

Counting cosmic rays—Cosmic ray particles passing through a Geiger tube are registered automatically by a mechanical counter.

Tracks of alpha particles—Alpha particles, or cosmic ray particles, leave well defined tracks (in a cloud chamber) which can be seen or photographed.

Distilling mercury—The evaporation and recondensation of mercury in vacuum to purify it.

Neon sign tubes—Typical electrical discharge tubes used in present day advertising.

Cathode rays—Bending a cathode ray stream in a magnetic field shows that the particles are electrons.

Objects appear where they aren't—It's done with mirrors. See yourself in a rotating mirror—two cart-wheels per revolution.

WATSON LIBRARY

Second Floor: Exhibition of Books and Photographs relating to the early days of the University.

Third Floor: Exhibit of Old Maps from Vollebehr Collection. Exhibit of Microfilm Reading Machine. Lawrence Room containing pictures and objects relating to Lawrence history.

GREEN HALL

Law School

Green Hall, law school building, houses the exhibits of the department. The law library has more than 26,000 volumes, including the books and other publications of its faculty, students, and old and rare books. The exhibits fill four cases. One is on the first floor, and contains such rarities as the Magna Carta, Coke's Institutes, and Malynes' Lex Mercatoria. On the landing leading to the second floor there is a case well filled with works of the present law faculty. In the Library there are two cases, one containing such books as The Statutes of the Crown, Bracton's Note Book, Rapin, Acta Regia etc.; in the other case appears articles written by law students and published in the Kansas Bar Journal during the years 1932-41. In addition to the above displays, there is also to be seen a collection of books on French Law recently donated to the Law Library by Mr. Edward D. Osborn, former professor of Law at the University. The book stacks are open and all visitors are always welcome to browse through and to use it.

OPENING OF SENATOR JOHN J. INGALL'S SPEECH AT THE FIRST COMMENCEMENT, JUNE 11, 1873.

MR. CHANCELLOR, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

The first time I stood upon this consecrated eminence, I looked southward and eastward down the enchanted valleys of the Wakarusa and the Kaw, through the vacant embrasures of a rude fortification that frowned with incongruous menace above the pastoral landscape for whose tranquil and diversified beauty, nature has no rival, art has no synonym. Clustered along its base, and mirrored in the sluggish stream, were the humble homes of those new Pilgrim Fathers of the West, impelled by to establish in solitude the germs of those institutions which in this brief interval have grown and expanded into a civilization that is one of the great wonders and marvels of the world; a civilization that would have been almost miraculous had its energies have expended in the material triumphs which have been achieved over the stubborn forces of nature, and the wild wasteful wilderness; the railroads that have been strung like pearls along their iron cords; the streams that have been bridged, the commerce that has been nurtured; the vast areas that have been rendered productive; the industries that have been developed; but far more marvelous when considered in its connection with those higher attributes which today find their highest expression in the rites which we here perform to commemorate the first annual commencement of the University of Kansas. This is the State's consummate hour.
