Governor to talk on human trafficking

Kansas Gov. Sam Brownback will speak on “Ending Human Trafficking” at 6 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 2, in the Kansas Union Ballroom. He will talk about how human trafficking — a modern form of slavery involving women, men and children — affects Kansas and what the state is doing to end it. A question-and-answer period will follow.

TODAY'S HEADLINES

Former GOP candidate to visit KU

Tim Pawlenty, former Minnesota governor and former Republican presidential candidate, will speak next week at KU. Pawlenty will be featured in a Dole Forum event at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 7, at the Dole Institute of Politics.

Expertise on corporate tax reform

Pulitzer Prize-winning journalist and best-selling author David Cay Johnston will be among the presenters at the Kansas Journal of Law and Public Policy's 2011-12 symposium at KU's School of Law. "Corporate Tax Reform: Making America Competitive" will be Friday, Feb. 10.

Energy contest kicks off at KU

KU's Center for Sustainability starts its Lights Out! energy-saving contest today. The event is a competition among the occupants of three buildings on campus — Bailey, Green and Summerfield halls — to see who can save the most energy over a 12-week period.

TODAY'S EVENTS

PUBLIC EVENT

February Sisters 40th anniversary commemoration

Wednesday, Feb. 1, 2012
9 a.m.-2 p.m.
Wescoe Hall

View all events

TWEET

@KUAthletics Our first group of 2012 #kufball signees is officially confirmed! Head over to...
http://fb.me/1tf0o2eev

View all tweets

FEATURED MULTIMEDIA

SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM

PoliticalFiber.com launch

More: photos | videos

CONNECT