Natural compound could fight cancer

Shrikant Anant, associate director of the University of Kansas Cancer Center, has been working with Animesh Dhar, an associate professor in KU Medical Center's department of cancer biology, to examine the effects of crocetin on pancreatic cancer, a deadly disease for which no effective therapies exist. They recently received a $800,000 RO1 grant from the National Cancer Institute.

Full Story