New kidney drug passes key test

A large clinical trial has proven that a drug developed as a result of KU Medical Center research is an effective treatment for polycystic kidney disease, a leading cause of kidney failure. The results have been published online in the New England Journal of Medicine.

Full Story

TODAY’S HEADLINES

Saving big-time college athletics

A KU professor who recently published a comprehensive list of reforms for college athletics will lead a University Community Forum panel discussion, "A Plan to Save Big Time Collegiate Sports," from 12:30 p.m. to 2 p.m. Monday, Nov. 12, in Media Crossroads at the Kansas Union.

Full Story

GIS Day @ KU to explore mapping

KU will host the 11th annual GIS Day @ KU on Wednesday, Nov. 14, part of an international celebration that recognizes practical applications and technological innovations in geographic information systems, commonly known as GIS.

Full Story

Faculty in 1st class of math fellows

Judy Roitman and Rodolfo Torres, professors of mathematics, have been named Fellows of the American Mathematical Society for 2013, the program's initial year.

Full Story

2012 Woodyard Award winner

Professor Erik Herron will receive the 2012 Geor...
Chemistry professor elected fellow

Shih-I Chu, Watkins Distinguished Professor of Chemistry and director of the Kansas Center for Advanced Scientific Computing, has been elected a Fellow in The World Academy of Sciences.

Full Story