The fight to slow HIV, AIDS in Africa

Few global health issues are more urgent or devastating than the toll of HIV and AIDS in Africa. Sarah Kessler, an assistant professor in KU Medical Center's Department of Family Medicine's research division, is committed to helping slow the spread of HIV, particularly in Africa, by decreasing the number of infants born with the disease.

Full Story

TODAY’S HEADLINES

Goonewardene joins national board
Julie Goonewardene, associate vice chancellor for innovation and entrepreneurship and president of the KU Center for Technology Commercialization, has been elected to the board of directors of the Personalized Medicine Coalition, the nation’s foremost advocacy group for personalized medicine.

Full Story

'Restorative education' partnership
A partnership between Kansas Children’s Service League, a private nonprofit social service agency, and KU researchers has shown that restorative justice helps at-risk youth reach their educational potential while reducing problem behavior.

Full Story

KUDOS

Athlete's mission trip to South Africa
KU softball player Rosie Hull traveled to South Africa this summer to get a taste of work in the medical field.

Full Story  Video

TODAY’S EVENTS

STUDENT GROUP EVENT

Midnight at the Museum
Tuesday, Dec. 11, 2012
5 p.m. - midnight
Spencer Museum of Art

View all events

TWITTER

@kuedwardscampus Trouble finding the #holiday spirit? Free holiday concert @KUEdwardsCampus tonight! Pianist #SamStryke performs at 7 p.m. #Fun #family event

View all tweets

FEATURED MULTIMEDIA

Video
Students perform for Broadway Holiday Revue
More: photos | videos

KU IN THE NEWS

Science Daily (December 11, 2012)
Most ancient evidence of insect camouflage

Yahoo! News (December 10, 2012)
Mayan apocalypse dooms medical research

Native American Times (December 10, 2012)
Kansas point guard inspires Native teens