

Digital Publishing Services at the University of Kansas Libraries

<http://journals.ku.edu>

KU Libraries' Digital Publishing Services has supported the KU community in the publication of scholarly journals online through Journals@KU since 2007, when Biodiversity Informatics made its debut. In 2013, articles in these journals were downloaded over 1 million times.

Two platforms support a range of publishing models

KU Libraries provides journal editors with the technical infrastructure to publish their journals on either of two platforms: KU ScholarWorks, KU's institutional repository, which makes journals visible to a wide audience and assures their long term preservation and Open Journals System (OJS), which makes journals visible and assures their preservation, but also supports the entire editorial management workflow, including article submission, multiple rounds of peer-review, and indexing.
