Soil microbes' role in climate change

A professor of ecology and evolutionary biology and her team are researching several possible mechanisms behind increased greenhouse-gas production from soil microbes. With such an understanding, a more finely tuned estimation of the microbial influence on Earth's warming climate is possible.

Full Story

TODAY’S HEADLINES

Fall 2012 candidates for degree
The names of more than 1,440 candidates for degrees for the fall 2012 semester at KU have been announced by the Office of the University Registrar.

Full Story

Public manager program graduates
KU's Public Management Center has announced the 2012 graduates of the Kansas Certified Public Manager program. The 72 students come from local, county, state and federal agencies.

Full Story

CAMPUS NEWS

Xijing Men making U.S. debut
The Spencer Museum of Art has announced inaugural North American exhibition by the internationally renowned Xijing Men. Members of the collaborative will arrive in Kansas City on Jan. 22 for a 10-day residency to install a new work.

Full Story

TODAY’S HEADLINES

Fall 2012 candidates for degree
The names of more than 1,440 candidates for degrees for the fall 2012 semester at KU have been announced by the Office of the University Registrar.

Full Story

Public manager program graduates
KU's Public Management Center has announced the 2012 graduates of the Kansas Certified Public Manager program. The 72 students come from local, county, state and federal agencies.

Full Story

CAMPUS NEWS

Xijing Men making U.S. debut
The Spencer Museum of Art has announced inaugural North American exhibition by the internationally renowned Xijing Men. Members of the collaborative will arrive in Kansas City on Jan. 22 for a 10-day residency to install a new work.

Full Story

TODAY’S HEADLINES

Fall 2012 candidates for degree
The names of more than 1,440 candidates for degrees for the fall 2012 semester at KU have been announced by the Office of the University Registrar.

Full Story

Public manager program graduates
KU's Public Management Center has announced the 2012 graduates of the Kansas Certified Public Manager program. The 72 students come from local, county, state and federal agencies.

Full Story

CAMPUS NEWS

Xijing Men making U.S. debut
The Spencer Museum of Art has announced inaugural North American exhibition by the internationally renowned Xijing Men. Members of the collaborative will arrive in Kansas City on Jan. 22 for a 10-day residency to install a new work.

Full Story