KU maintains in-state dominance in rankings

KU continues to offer more ranked graduate programs than all other Kansas public universities combined, according to the 2014 edition of U.S. News and World Report’s “Best Graduate Schools.” In the latest rankings, KU has 10 programs ranked in the top 10 among public universities and 32 ranked among the top 40.

Full Story

TODAY’S HEADLINES

Refining the boundaries of species

Researcher Jenny Archibald recently received a grant from the National Science Foundation to explore definitions of species and better delimit the ways that human beings characterize other organisms.

Full Story

TODAY’S EVENTS

LECTURE

‘An Evening with Edwidge Danticat’

Wednesday, March 13, 2013
7:30 p.m.-9 p.m.
Kansas Union
Woodruff Auditorium

View all events

CAMPUS NEWS

Research-sharing session

The fifth Red Hot Research event will be 4 p.m. Thursday, March 14, at The Commons in Spooner Hall. It will include talks from faculty in psychology, mechanical engineering and other areas.

Full Story

KUDOS

Early childhood researcher honored

David Lindeman, senior scientist and director of the Life Span Institute at Parsons, has been honored with the Kansas Division of Early Childhood Award of Excellence.

Full Story