Professor: Immigrants gaining cultural voice

Undocumented immigrants tend not to have a public voice, but KU English professor Marta Caminero-Santangelo says their stories are emerging in literature and the media and helping to shape the U.S. imagination and the immigration debate. She is writing the first full-length study addressing how work by Latino writers represents undocumented immigration in the Gatekeeper era.

Full Story
KU to stage Sondheim musical

KU Theatre will perform "Merrily We Roll Along," written by George Furth with music and lyrics by Stephen Sondheim, at 7:30 p.m. April 20-21, 27-28 and at 2:30 p.m. April 22 and 29 in the Crafton-Preyer Theatre.

Full Story