Examining readiness of athletic trainers

In the field of athletic training, there has been talk for several years that new graduates are not ready for the work force. A University of Kansas professor has conducted studies showing that both employers and recent graduates partially agree on that point and is expanding his research to find out why it is happening and how higher education can address the problem.

Full Story

TODAY’S HEADLINES

Law, business students offer tax aid

Law and business students from the University of Kansas are offering free tax services for those who qualify from Feb. 13 through April 15.

Full Story

Center for Design building rated LEED Platinum

The Center for Design Research building on KU’s West Campus has earned a LEED Platinum Rating from the U.S. Green Building Council. The project was designed and built by School of Architecture, Design and Planning’s Studio 804 and dedicated in the spring of 2011.

Full Story

TODAY’S EVENTS

WORKSHOP

Make Your Resume Stand Out at the University Career Fair
Tuesday Jan. 29
4-5 p.m.
View all events

TODAY’S EVENTS

TWITTER

@KUMedCenter Happy Kansas Day! Did you know the state's only schools of pharmacy & medicine are at KU? Learn about #KU and #Kansas http://bit.ly/X5PvX7
View all tweets

KU IN THE NEWS

New York Times (Jan. 29, 2013)
Is a Full Ride Enough to Upgrade a ‘Fallback’ School?

CONNECT

connect.ku.edu

CAMPUS NEWS

Honoring public management

January 2013 has been proclaimed by Gov. Sam Brownback to be Certified Public Manager Recognition Month in the state of Kansas. Representatives of the Kansas Certified Public Manager program received this commendation from the governor earlier this month at a proclamation signing ceremony.

Full Story
Gov. Sam Brownback and the University of Kansas will host the Kansas Conference on Slavery and Human Trafficking on Jan. 31 and Feb. 1 in the Kansas Union. The two-day conference will examine existing research on slavery and human trafficking and identify gaps in educational and research programs that could be best filled in Kansas. The conference will culminate in research, legal advocacy and graduate education initiatives to be developed by KU and regional partners.