Far Above: The Campaign for Kansas

Building on four years of record private giving, KU Endowment has publicly launched Far Above: The Campaign for Kansas, a $1.2 billion fundraising campaign to support the aspirations of the University of Kansas and The University of Kansas Hospital. Alumni and friends have committed $612 million to date since July 2008, when major priorities were identified.

Full Story

Edwards campus to offer IT degree

The Kansas Board of Regents has approved a Bachelor of Science in Information Technology (BSIT) degree that will be offered on the KU Edwards Campus through the School of Engineering. The BSIT is the second new degree program made possible through the Johnson County Education Research Triangle.

Full Story

Meet UAC director candidates

The KU community is invited to meet the three candidates for director of the Undergraduate Advising Center. The director will provide leadership for advising services offered through the UAC and coordinate with advising resources across the university. Candidate forums are today, Wednesday and Friday.

Full Story

Law students named dean’s fellows

A new group of committed law students is ready to serve through the 2012-13 Dean’s Fellows program in 2012. Nine second- and third-year students will mentor incoming students beginning in the fall.

Full Story

TODAY’S EVENTS

MUSIC

KU Choirs: Chamber Choir and Concert Choir
Monday, April 30, 2012
7:30 p.m.-9 p.m.
Swarthout Recital Hall
Murphy Hall

View all events

TWITTER

@liedcenterks Excited about our 2012-13 line-up? Tickets go on sale today at 11am to Friends of the Lied & KU Students. May 14 to the general public!

View all tweets

FEATURED MULTIMEDIA

KU ATHLETICS

Kansas football spring game
More: photos | videos

KU IN THE NEWS

Conde Nast Traveler (April 30, 2012)
The center of Google Earth is in Kansas
EECS students excel at conference

KU students earned two top-five finishes, including first place in Student Ethics, at the Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers (IEEE) Region 5 Annual Conference this past weekend in Tulsa, Okla.

Full Story