HYMN .................................................................. Seymour

Softly now the light of day
Fades upon my sight away;
Free from care, from labor free,
Lord, I would commune with Thee.

Thou, whose all-pervading eye
Naught escapes, without, within,
Pardon each infirmity,
Open fault and secret sin.

Soon, for me, the light of day
Shall forever pass away:
Then, from sin and sorrow free,
Take me, Lord, to dwell with Thee.

Thou who, sinless, yet has known
All of man’s infirmity:
Then, from Thine eternal throne,
Jesus, look with pitying eye. Amen.

HYMN .............................................................. DUKE STREET

O God, beneath Thy guiding hand
Our exiled fathers cross’d the sea;
And when they trod the wintry strands,
With pray’r and psalm they worshipp’d Thee.

Thou heard’st, well pleased, the song, the prayer,
Thy blessing came; and still its power
Shall onward, through all ages, bear
The memory of that holy hour.

Laws, freedom, truth, and faith in God
Came with those exiles o’er the waves;
And where their pilgrim feet have trod,
The God they trusted guards their graves.

And here Thy name, O God of love,
Their children’s children shall adore,
Till these eternal hills remove,
And spring adorns the earth no more.  Amen.

O may I join the choir invisible
Of those immortal dead who live again
In minds made better by their presence: live
In pulses stirred to generosity, in deeds of daring
rectitude, in scorn
Of miserable aims that end with self, in thoughts sublime that pierce the night like stars,
And with their mild persistence urge man search
To vaster issues. So to live is heaven.

Sixty-eighth Annual
COMMENCEMENT
June 7 to 10, 1940
THE UNIVERSITY OF KANSAS

Commencement, 1940

Seventy-four years ago, on September 12, 1866, the doors of old North College were first opened, to admit a preparatory class of fifty-five young people. Seven years later, in 1873, the University held its first Commencement Exercises, graduating three young men and one young woman out of this first class.

This year the University will observe its sixty-eighth annual Commencement with a class of more than a thousand young men and women eager to step out and make a place for themselves in the world,—a thousand young men and women trained in the arts and sciences, trained for business and for the professions.

This Commencement also marks the end of the University’s first year under the administration of Deane W. Malott, who was graduated from the University in 1921, and who, on July 1, 1939, became its eighth Chancellor.

Programs of the Commencement events, the Commencement Forums and Exhibits, together with details of the celebration next year of the Diamond Jubilee of the founding of the University, are given on succeeding pages of this general program.

The University points with particular pride to the establishment this year of three dormitories providing for one hundred and eighteen self-supporting men students. A detailed description of these dormitories is also included in this program.

COMMENCEMENT EXHIBITS

MEMORIAL UNION

The Memorial Union, where Commencement registration headquarters are maintained, is the center of student social life and is always the place where alumni meet when they return. In addition to the main lounge, it has a beautiful ballroom on the second floor; three distinctive banquet and meeting rooms, as well as a music room with a Carnegie set of records and player, on the third floor; a cafeteria, with group dining room in connection, on the level below the main lounge; and a soda fountain, and student offices on the Mississippi street level below the cafeteria. A special hostess will be on duty on the music room floor during the Commencement period. The Union is a gift to the University from alumni as part of the World War Memorial. The other part of the memorial is the Stadium. Recent classes and other groups have helped finish the Union.

DYCHE MUSEUM OF NATURAL HISTORY

Rapid progress is being made on the reconstruction of Dyche Museum of Natural History, but the building will not be open at this Commencement season. When finally completed Dyche Museum will house one of the most complete and elaborate collections of mammals and birds of its kind in any college museum in America.

SPOONER-THAYER MUSEUM OF ART

The Thayer Collection of Art, gift of Mrs. W. B. Thayer as a memorial to her husband, is displayed on the three floors of Spooner-Thayer Building.

The exhibits on the main floor include a rare and interesting group of eighteenth century Italian figures; carvings of lacquer, ivory, jade, crystal and amber; Oriental rugs, brocades and embroideries; pewter, copper, bronze and silver; pottery, porcelain and glass from many countries; and several types of furniture. A library of books on art, history and travel is in the north-west room of this floor. Also in this room is the stamp collection presented last year by Harriet Greissinger Brown, fa'95. In the southwest room are the Martin Memorial windows; the 18th century English porcelain and pottery, given by Mr. and Mrs. F. P.
Burnap, of Kansas City; 18th century furniture; and some porcelain and pottery from the Thayer Collection. Two cases of manuscripts and old books from the collection of F. B. Dains may be seen in the central room.

The galleries on the second floor display paintings and prints, musical instruments and furniture. The permanent collection of paintings by American artists occupies the central gallery. In the south gallery is an exhibition of sculpture by Bernard Frazier, fa'29, of the Department of Design. A group of 16th century line engravings from the Marvin collection, recently presented to the Museum by George March, '08, and Mary Atkinson March, fs, will be on view in the north gallery. In a case in this room is a copy of the Kelmscott Edition of the Works of Chaucer, designed by William Morris, and often called the most beautiful book in the world. There is also a page from the first Caxton edition of The Canterbury Tales. These are a loan from the collection of Chester Woodward, '96, of Topeka.

The ground floor contains the collection of American Indian Art, American coverlets, hooked rugs, dolls, and some Colonial furniture; also examples of quilt blocks from the Hall Collection of Quilt Patterns, and some Persian, East Indian, and Paisley Shawls. There is a special exhibit of shoes from many countries presented some years ago by Anne Wilder, fs'96.

Illustrated on page 12 are a bronze Buddha, two Lafayette plates, a copper lustre pitcher, Japanese Stone Lantern, an Italian arrangement of Presepe figures of the Nativity, Enoch Wood's Diana, a Staffordshire Bust of Washington, an old blue plate and sugar bowl, a model of a Clipper Ship, a Japanese Sten-cil, and Italian Presepe Wandering Minstrels. These are only a few of the thousands of interesting things on display in the Museum.

FRASER-WILCOX CLASSICAL MUSEUM

The Wilcox Museum of Classical Antiquities is found in the south wing, second floor, rooms 206, 208, 210, Fraser Hall. The collection contains several reliefs, fifteen full-sized plaster casts, illustrating Greek and Roman sculpture, and a dozen slabs of the north frieze and twenty of the east frieze of the Parthenon.
The museum contains a good-sized collection of specimens of building stones used in Roman structures; inscriptions, vases, lamps, cinerary urns, lock and keys, articles of dress, and specimens of Roman glass. In addition there are numerous photographs illustrating Greek and Roman topography and life, and many other interesting exhibits of classical antiquities. The aim of the museum is to make more vivid the life of ancient times.

WATSON LIBRARY

The University Library contains some 310,000 volumes catalogued and classified, and a large amount of unbound and uncatalogued material. The library receives more than 2,300 different periodicals and publications of learned societies either through purchase, gift, or exchange. At present, the volumes are housed under crowded conditions, and the Library is badly in need of more shelf space.

The special exhibits to be seen this year are: Facsimiles of historical letters by Napoleon, Nelson, Louis XVI and others, on the second floor; and an exhibit of early maps of North America from the Vollbehr collection on the third floor.

Reference Room of Watson Library
BAILEY CHEMICAL LABORATORIES

The departments of Chemistry, Biochemistry, and Chemical Engineering, and the School of Pharmacy are housed in the Bailey Chemical Laboratories. These divisions have prepared several exhibits, and guides will be available for showing and explaining the exhibits and for special demonstrations.

Production of Liquid Air and demonstration of its most striking properties, Room 7, basement.

The laboratories of the Chemical Engineering Department are located in rooms 24, 24D, 24E, 24H, 24I, in the basement of Bailey Chemical Laboratory. Equipment installed in rooms 24 and 24E is used in teaching the principles of the Unit Operations of Chemical Engineering and Process Development. The Fuels and Lubricants laboratory is located in room 24I. These laboratories are well equipped, but further development is not possible because of insufficient housing facilities. A modest beginning has been made in research activities which is supported by industry and the state. The close linkage of this department to industry is of direct benefit to student body and staff. Further development in this direction also depends on more laboratory space.

FRANK STRONG HALL—FINE ARTS

The third floor of the Frank Strong Hall is given over to the Department of Design (West Strong Hall) and Department of Drawing and Painting (East Strong Hall). Exhibitions of student work may be seen in the various class rooms and corridors on this floor. The exhibitions of current art work, illustrated on opposite page, are by students of the Department of Design and include textiles, wall papers, posters, pottery, jewelry and metal work, woodcarving, bookbinding, art in industry and public school art projects. These may be seen in rooms 308, 310, 314, 316, 320 and in the corridors of West Strong Hall. The exhibitions of current art work by students of the Department of Drawing and Painting may be seen in room 325 and in the corridors of East Strong Hall. Room 323 houses the Brynwood Collection of Paintings lent to the University by Mr. Chester Woodward of Topeka.
HAWORTH HALL

Haworth Hall houses a fine collection of minerals, rocks and invertebrate fossils. The minerals may be seen in room 102. A special and spectacular exhibit of fluorescent minerals is on display in Room 5.

The paleontological collections contain more than 250,000 specimens of invertebrates representing fossiliferous rocks from the oldest to the youngest, both from Europe and North America, and an extensive collection of coal measures, Cretaceous, Tertiary plant fossils. Exhibits of invertebrate fossils arranged according to geological age and biologic classification are displayed.

Special attention is directed to the Geological map and the topographic relief model of Kansas hung on the east and west walls of the ground floor. On the east wall of the upper floor is a large and excellent geologic cross-section of Kansas, showing all the formations cropping out at the surface and underground across the state from east to west. Attention is called also to an oil well derrick built to scale, and several models showing mining operations underground.

The new Department of Petroleum Engineering is situated in the northeast portion of the basement. At present, facilities are available to care for 12 students during a single laboratory period. Equipment has recently been purchased or constructed for complete core analysis and for high pressure gas-liquid investigations. A natural gas laboratory is situated in the south section of the basement, where the research work is conducted and where complete analyses of hydrocarbon gases may be made, precise temperature control utilized, and intermediate pressure studies safely conducted.

The Department of Mining and Metallurgical Engineering displays the equipment used in concentrating ores and in assaying them, also the methods used in the microscopical examination of metals and alloys. There is an interesting exhibition of metals and of models of underground mining methods.

The Ceramics laboratory is in the extreme south part of the building.

SNOW HALL

Snow Hall is the home of the Bacteriology, Botany, Entomology, and Zoology departments. The Francis Huntington Snow Entomological Collections are in room 317. These collections consist of more than 500,000 specimens, including a great many species, over a thousand of which are represented by types. The Coleoptera collection is especially complete, containing 10,000 specimens. A display of insects is also shown in room 302.

The exhibit of the Botany Department consists of mounted ferns and grasses, which may be seen in the hall on the fourth floor.

The collections of the Zoology Department are in rooms 201 and 220. The lower hall contains a series of lighted aquaria with specimens of Kansas fish and turtles.

MARVIN HALL—ENGINEERING

The various engineering laboratories will be open to visitors. Special attention is directed to the exhibition of student work of the Department of Architecture on the third floor. In the basement at the east end are the concrete road and applied mechanic testing laboratories and in the west end the water laboratory of the State Board of Health. Several dioramas showing improper and proper water well construction are on display on the basement floor.

The University’s broadcasting station, KFKU, is of much interest to visitors and is in room 202 of the Engineering Laboratory Building behind Marvin Hall. In this same building are the electrical, mechanical and aeronautical laboratories. The wind tunnel is under the stadium.

ASTRONOMICAL OBSERVATORY

The William Pitt 27-inch Reflecting Telescope will be open for inspection, and also a number of astronomical photographs recently secured with it.

A complete set of photographs showing various stages of the annular eclipse of the sun on April 7, 1940, taken with the 6-inch refractor in Conroe, Texas, will also be on display.
The Seventy-Fifth Anniversary

The principal celebration of the 75th anniversary of the University of Kansas will be unfolded a year from now at the 1941 Commencement exercises.

“You shall have a college which shall be a school of learning and at the same time perpetuate the memory of those martyrs of liberty” . . . Amos A. Lawrence, 1856.

The operating committee has decided to group all the diamond anniversary events into a four-day period and not scatter them throughout several months of time. This means that the crowds which will visit the campus next June for the Sixty-ninth Commencement will be able to join in the commemoration of the three-quarters of a century which has elapsed since the opening of the University in 1866 and the completion of its 75 years of service to the state of Kansas.

“A few days later Quantrill’s raid on Lawrence occurred, and, of course all thought of the school project was abandoned.”

—Newspaper clipping 1863.

The operating committee which now is pushing forward the anniversary plans is headed by T. H. Marshall, professor of chemical engineering. The chairmen of the six sub-committees who are working with Marshall include Dean D. M. Swarthout, Leonard Axe, Bert A. Nash, Fred Montgomery, Fred Ellsworth, members of the University staff, and Ray T. Wright, alumnus and Lawrence business man.

And when the matter of the location of a state university arose, Lawrence made it known that it would rather have the university than the state capital.

This committee is working under the supervision of the general seventy-fifth anniversary committee, appointed in 1938 by former Chancellor E. H. Lindley, and headed by U. G. Mitchell, professor of mathematics. The general committee laid a broad ground work, fixed tentative dates for the celebration, and planned several events which would lead logically to the finale next spring. Then it stepped aside. One month ago the operating committee moved into action.

The Unitarian, Congregational, Presbyterian and Episcopal churches had tried to start a school here, but, after difficulties, one and then the other abandoned the attempt.

The spring of 1941 was decided upon for the climax of the celebration because it will mark the completion of seventy-five years of service by the University of Kansas.

Small groups of students were coming up the hill, some of them riding on horseback. The sound of hammer and saw could be heard, for North College was not quite completed that September morning.

Seventy-four years ago on July 19, the Board of Regents elected the first faculty—E. J. Rice, acting president and professor of belles lettres and mental and moral science, D. H. Robinson, professor of languages, and F. H. Snow, professor of mathematics and natural science.

One man to teach all philosophy. One man to teach all languages. One man to teach all mathematics and science. What Kansas must owe to these three!

Seventy-four years ago on September 12, the University opened the doors of old North College to “twenty-six young ladies and twenty-nine young gentlemen,” who were admitted to the preparatory department for the first term.

A plain square building without beauty of architecture and in its rooms no library or apparatus of any kind . . . . across the river the shining steel rails of the Union Pacific building westward.

Because some events important in the history of the University occurred prior to 1866, each of them a milestone and all of them worthy of commemoration, the general committee already has presented several preliminary programs.

Perhaps the most important preliminary program was the dinner and radio broadcast Nov. 2, 1938, commemorating the seventy-fifth anniversary of the proclamation by Governor Thomas Carney which located the University at Lawrence. At that dinner William Allen White gave the address which was broadcast nationally, and former Governor Huxman was present.

Mr. White spoke of the marks of an educated man, while Chancellor Lindley in introducing him recounted some of the achievements of the University in the three-quarters of a century.

Then on April 18 of this year came another phase of the celebration—the banquet honoring the 50th anniversary of the founding of Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi at K.U. Dean E. B. Stouffer of the Graduate School was the speaker and 80-page pamphlets were printed recounting the complete history and membership of these two honorary organizations.

Numerous side-lights have come into the 75th anniversary picture in recent months. The committee is considering the possibility of capitalizing on the following:

1. Reopening of Dyche Museum, which has been closed for repairs since 1952. The reconstructed building will house one of the best natural history museums in collegiate ranks.
2. Publication of Prof. Robert Taft's picture-history of the University.

3. Formal presentation of three new men's dormitories to K. U., especially Alumni Place which was purchased through gifts by alumni.

Only one history of the University has been published, that by Miles W. Sterling, veteran professor of Greek, in 1891. Mr. Sterling is now retired and lives near the campus.

The principles which have been laid down by the general committee and upon which the 75th anniversary is based, include the following:

1. To honor those persons within and without the University who have made major contributions to its up-building.

2. To give impetus to the cause of education.

3. To promote fellowship and unity among the alumni of the University and to bring a large number of alumni to the campus at one time.

5. To show alumni and citizens of the state what the University is as it exists today.

The first buildings on the present campus, reading from left to right—Spooner-Thayer Art Museum, originally the library; Blake Hall; Fraser Hall; and old Snow Hall.
Men's Dormitories at K. U.

For 74 years the University of Kansas has had no dormitories for men students. But the dawn of the 75th anniversary year will find three men's dorms on the campus—all owned and equipped by the University and 118 men living in them.

One of the dorms came as a result of a lot of hard work and a purchase, another directly as a gift, and the third directly as a gift. All three arrived within a year's time, without cost to the state, and somewhat like the A-B-C's.

And so for brevity, let's call them A, B, and C.

A stands for Alumni Place. This historic property stands with its house and three acres of ground at the east edge of the campus on Fourteenth street, directly south of Spooner-Thayer museum. The Endowment Association purchased it last December from the Acacia fraternity. The house is being remodeled and redecorated and in September will accommodate 40 men students. The project was conceived a year ago by the Endowment Association as a seventy-fifth anniversary gift of alumni to their University, and a campaign for funds was immediately launched.

B stands for the John Battenfeld hall, now under construction. This 3-story brick house of Georgian architectural style, is being built on the south part of Alumni Place by Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Battenfeld of Kansas City, Mo. When it is completed by September and is filled with 52 men students it will stand as a memorial by the Battenfelds to the memory of their son, John, who was killed in a motor car crash near Lawrence last December. The son was a junior in the University at the time of his death. The Battenfelds also will furnish the dorm.

C stands for the former Chancellor's residence. This 3-story red brick house directly east of Spooner-Thayer museum was for more than forty years the home of K.U. chancellors. However, when the late Mrs. Elizabeth Watkins left by will her beautiful hill-top home to the University, it was redecorated, connected with K.U. utility lines, and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Malott. This left the old home unoccupied. During this school year it has been rented by a semi-organized group of men students, but in September it will be managed by the University as a dormitory. It accommodates 26.

The three houses—all within the distance of a hop-step-and-jump—will be managed by the University, with responsibility delegated to student leaders. Occupancy will be granted on the basis of house scholarships, each one estimated in value at $100.

The holder of a scholarship will pay about $18 per month for both board and room and will work about two hours a day around the house on assigned jobs. He may cook, wash dishes, make beds. Or he may sweep, dust, or rake the lawn. He will help to keep the place clean and will reduce expenses by sharing work as well as costs.

The scholarships, applications for which were sent throughout the state, will be granted to men students on the basis of character, need, intelligence, and studious habits. Their purpose is to provide a way for self-supporting men to attend the University, who, because of financial reasons, could not do so otherwise.

So now the A-B-C’s are ready to take their place beside the three dormitories for women students—Corbin, Miller, and Watkins halls.
GENERAL INFORMATION

All students being graduated are referred to the Senior Reminder for instructions.

HILL TOP, Mount Oread

I ne'er come up this blessed hill,
    Where youth is in the sun,
But that my pulses faster thrill,
    My heartbeats swifter run.

I ne'er come up those blessed steeps,
    And view the valley o'er,
But that my heart a vigil keeps
    More hopeful than before.

I ne'er come up these blessed heights,
    Where youth is in the van,
But that I see aloft the lights,
    And hear the pipes of Pan.

Leslie E. Wallace.

. . . "A University training is the great ordinary means to a great but ordinary end; it aims at raising the intellectual tone of society, at cultivating the public mind, at purifying the national taste, at supplying true principles to popular enthusiasm and fixed aims to popular aspiration, at giving enlargement and sobriety to the ideas of the age, at facilitating the exercise of political power, and refining the intercourse of private life."
