Arches should be framed out with lumber, and then covered in foam. The foam should be carved so that the corners and edges of each stone are slightly rounded. The cracks in between the stones should be carved with a hot wire or a router.