Publicity: List publicity and promotional activities conducted during the reporting period, if there were any. (Send any examples of non-electronic promotional materials to the NN/LM MCR by mail or send an email attachment to reports@rml4.utah.edu or provide URLs.)

Brochure and webpage: the same as before.

Evalutation was created.

Complete an Outreach Reporting Form for demonstrations and training that took place during the reporting period. Complete an Exhibit Report (MS Word) for any exhibits as email attachments to reports@rml4.utah.edu for inclusion as appendices to this report.

- Fry offered training for their personnel at the Ignacio Health Clinic on the Southern Ute reservation.
- Fry updated Native American resources on the web site adding other useful websites presented by Stephanie Weldon, Outreach Coordinator.
- The project leaders from the three organizations met and discussed the progress this outreach collaboration.
- Class evaluations were distributed to Durango Public Library from outreach sessions and the website will continue to be gathered and evaluated. FLC students became more aware of online consumer health webpage through Library Research Methods class, which is a required course.

Other accomplishments: List any additional activities, resources, services, and administrative arrangements or collaborations that occurred during this reporting period.

Plan to apply further grant to Ute Mountain Foundation to improve library's consumer health collection.

Target audience: Are there any insights you have gained about your target population during this reporting period? Have their needs changed since your initial assessment? Is the group different from your original anticipated audience?

Most of audience were public librarians, FLC librarians, and other health professionals from Ignacio Health Clinic and Mercy Medical Center in Durango.

I found a few links were broken and the webpage desperately needs to be updated.

Goals, Outcomes, Objectives: Discuss problems, successes, surprises, and/or insights of this quarter. Based on these experiences and your progress to date, have you rethought or in any way modified your objectives for the project? Are the needs of the audience those you anticipated, and are the outcomes you expected still feasible?

Equipment did not work very well since each organization has different ways to access Internet. It was the most frustrating moment, and I will be better prepared next quarter.

Evaluation: List any specific evaluation activities that occurred during the reporting period. Activities might include surveys, focus groups, pre- and post-tests, interviews, log of activities, or other steps to monitor progress.

Health information training was announced in the SWRLSS usual training schedule throughout the award period in order to reach the widest possible audience. Fry gave a training session when possible to a group of public librarians at Durango Public Library in Durango, Colorado.
FLC has a Navajo speaking librarian who was present at preliminary meetings, discussed a possibility of presenting a class, and she will help students using the new consumer online resources webpage.

Impacts and Observations: If there are anecdotes that illustrate the impact that the project is having, provide the narrative here; include any indicators of success. Share observations, lessons learned, and any other feedback you think would be helpful.

Most of audience were pleased with the webpage, and there will be more opportunities that our consumers will make use of this webpage.

Planned Activities: Provide a brief outline of activities (training, exhibits, web development, meetings, evaluation etc.) that are scheduled for the next quarter.

Unfinished Business:
Fry will contacted the Towaoc Library on the Ute Mountain Ute reservation, and she is planning to visit the library and have a presentation.
FLC plans to offer training to FLC students and the general public on consumer health databases. Students often are a successful conduit for getting information to Native American families and thus are key recipients of consumer health training.
